

O. Eugene Pickett Award of the Unitarian Universalist Association of Congregations

Award Criteria

The O. Eugene Pickett Award is given annually to the congregation that has made an outstanding contribution to the growth of Unitarian Universalism. Selection of a winner is based not only on honor society status, statistical growth in adult members and children in church school, but also on how the congregation has expressed commitment to membership growth through publicity, new member recruitment, outreach programs, and other means that foster Unitarian Universalism.

The winner of this award receives $500. Nominations are made through the districts.

District nominations are due each year by March 1, and should be addressed to:
