 I agree to take back to my community what I have learned and advocate for comprehensive sexuality education

We are interested in your identities and experiences with sexuality education and social justice work because it will help us plan accordingly to make SEAT a diverse, dynamic and safe space for all participants. Self-identification is strongly encouraged but not required.

My gender identity is: _____ My racial/cultural identity/ies: _____

My sexual orientation is: _____ My religious identity is: _____

Other identities I claim: _____

Please attach one additional piece of paper answering the following questions:

1. What is your experience/interest in sexuality education?
2. Have you taken/taught Our Whole Lives (OWL), About Your Sexuality (AYS), Sacred Choices or another sexuality education program? If so, when?
3. Have you had any personal experiences or structured trainings dealing with racism, oppression, privilege or identity development? If so, what?
4. Who in your UU, UCC, or URJ community would be a good candidate to join you at SEAT? We encourage you to consider your minister, your rabbi, a parent, a young person, your youth director, OWL facilitator, social action chair etc.

Payment and Scholarships:

The training fee is on a sliding scale of $50-150, please pay as much as you can afford. Participants are strongly encouraged to seek funding from their congregations, synagogue, campus groups, or other relevant organizations. I will seek financial support from _____ to help cover the training fee. Generous funding is available to help offset travel costs. Contact seat@uaa.org for more information.

Registration Process:

We will follow up with every applicant to discuss participation in the training by Monday January 12th. If selected, we will help you connect with others in your community to attend SEAT in a cluster of 2-4 people.

Applications are due Monday January 5th
