

“I Believe” My Personal Beliefs...

I believe in love.

I believe in life.

I believe in transformation, not death.

I believe that life is a spiritual journey.

I believe we are all creative beings.

I believe in searching for your truth.

I believe in confronting your problems.

I believe that all humans are connected.

I believe that if you seek you shall find.

I believe that artists and scientists are essentially searching for the same thing; however, artists seek to express their findings, while scientists seek to explain their findings.

I believe in creativity.

I believe that music is a universal language.

I believe in following your heart.

I believe that time is time and money is money, but they are not interconnected.

I believe in asking questions.

I believe in exploring life.

I believe in taking your time.

I believe in doing what you love.

I believe in living healthy.

I believe we all have a purpose.

I believe that Jesus was a super cool dude.

I believe in human potential.

I believe people change.

I believe in peace.

I believe in personal growth.

I believe that heaven and hell are here on earth.

I believe in truth.

I believe in myself.

I believe that life is a timeless beginning that has no ending.

I believe in having fun.

I believe in laughing.

I believe the time is now.

I believe in sharing the wealth.

I believe that all answers lie inside you.

I believe in having faith.

I believe you attract what you are.

I believe in learning.

I believe that I can change the world.

I believe in freedom.

I believe in friendship.

I believe in loyalty.

I believe in excellence.

I believe in hard work.

I believe adults can learn a lot from children.

I believe that parents should listen to their kids.

I believe in self discovery.

I believe in being humble.

I believe in nature.

I believe I have made a lot of mistakes and have no regrets.

I believe I am successful.

I believe in having a vision.

I believe in dreaming.

I believe dreams come true.

I believe that growing up and getting old are two completely different things.

I believe in having perspective.

I believe in balance.

I believe in having confidence.

I believe in listening.

I believe in having conversations.

I believe in staying true to your word.

I believe in beauty.

I believe in financial freedom.

I believe that being alone is good sometimes.

I believe in logic.

I believe in respecting women.

I believe that Unitarian Universalism has enormous potential.

I believe anything is possible.