

Charm of Honesty

A small glowing charm is left behind by the Spirit of False Affirmation after the group shows genuine kindness and honesty in the maze. The charm allows a journeyer to use an extra die when rolling to determine if someone is telling the truth.

Universal Translator

The Universal Translator (either magic or technology based) is a small, palm-sized device or wearable artifact (amulet, earpiece, brooch, players pick the style that fits their character). Silver, iridescent, or covered in runes, it gently hums when activated. Once tuned to a speaker, it instantly and seamlessly translates spoken or written language into words the user understands. It can only translate one language at a time, but switches easily with a button or magical word.

The Universal Translator does not remove the nuances and complexity that make each language special. Humor, idioms, emotion, and local slang still retain their flavor, encouraging empathy and curiosity in cross-cultural conversations. Occasionally, the device surprises users with new poetry or accidental jokes.
