Dan Brody, Financial Advisor, reported on the financial status of the Association. He reported on the current discussions between the Investment Committee and the Committee on Socially Responsible Investing regarding socially responsible investing. He reviewed funding for past capital campaigns and said that funding was needed for future campaigns, saying that the investment in capital campaigns would more than repay itself over time and that the goal was to balance the overall well-being of the Association against the duty to protect the value of existing restricted endowment funds. Brody said that his future agenda included the proposed health insurance plan, financial reporting, the General Investment Fund administrative fee, debt management, conflict of interest policies, the role of the audit committee, depreciation and capital budgeting, Beacon Press, cash management, and compliance with state registration rules concerning planned giving.

Members of the Congregations Working Group reported on their discussions, including their review, with the Living Our Faith Working Group, of the work being done in the Gulf Coast. They reviewed the Association’s international work, noting our relationship with international organizations are being reviewed and that an interim director in the international office is overseeing a re-examination of our international work through the lens of the Board’s International Vision Statement adopted in October 2004. They reported on their meeting with members of the Lifespan Faith Development Staff Group concerning the new lifespan curriculum, discussed the interim report of the Special Review Committee, and discussed the congregational presidents’ workshop to be held at General Assembly.
It was noted that the Hollis Unitarian Universalist Congregation in New York and the Unitarian Universalist Church of Flushing, New York had merged into the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Queens, that the Castine Unitarian Church in Maine is now the Unitarian Universalist Congregation of Castine, and that the Idaho Falls UU Fellowship in Idaho is now the Unitarian Universalist Church in Idaho Falls.

M (Ortman), S, and

VOTED: The UUA Board affirms the Journey Toward Wholeness Transformation Committee’s vision of assessing and monitoring the UUA’s transition to become an anti-racist, anti-oppressive and multicultural institution by narrowing its focus to in-depth analysis in one particular area each year.

It was agreed that the bylaws should be amended to lengthen the UUA social witness process, establish congregational participation quorums at two stages of the process, and allow sponsored organizations to propose Study/Action Issues

M (Peebles), S, and

M (Blevins), S, and

VOTED: The Best Practices Committee moves that the following statement be adopted as a Board practice, for inclusion in our Board Orientation Manual:

“You may have noted that the 2003 Roles and Expectations above calls on us to speak with one voice. This statement has been interpreted in many ways. Here is our attempt to bring more clarity to the intent of the statement. Speaking with one voice implies that you have had reasonable opportunity to participate in the debate of the issues and opportunities before the committee or board. You may have disagreed with the Board’s decision, and you may say so publicly. However, once the Board makes a policy decision, and even if you do not fully support the board’s position, you are asked to do your best to help implement that policy in the spirit of moving our organization ahead in accordance with our democratic principles.

If you find you cannot in good conscience do this, then you may consult with the Moderator or First Vice-Moderator.”
