words and music by Kathleen Tracy guitar capo 2 chords

The sense of wonder we all share, lives that remind us to be kind and fair. Like star light beacons in the night, they point the way to love. Wisdom from teachers all over the world, love that reaches out to others in turn. Like star-light beacons in the night, they point the way to love. (bridge) Oh shine down mystery, the path may be different for you and me. Let's walk together as we learn and grow and sing about the things we know.

We can use our minds to see what's true, and feel the circle of life we're connected to.

These are things that we believe and they point the way to love.

These are things that we believe and they point the way to love.
