So that we might, together, shine
By Rev. Erik Walker Wikstrom, on the UUA WorshipWeb
Why Innovation?
Innovate? Who, Me?

Religious Educators are always innovating:
See it, name it, claim it!

The MAJORITY of current innovation in faith development happens in the laboratories of congregations & RE programs…

...yet we often feel we are just treading water.
Innovation as a Landscape

Great ideas that change systems and change lives can’t be accomplished alone.

Change in congregations is complex: requires new kinds of leadership, resources, communication, teambuilding, and thinking.

When we recognize that innovation is essential, and what it requires, we increase the chance that we will have the tools to succeed.
What Have We Learned?

Every innovator in the field has something to share that they learned in the process.

In April 2016, a group of innovative religious professionals gathered to share their wisdom and takeaways from their own approaches.

Today we are pleased to share with you some of the learnings from that gathering.
Innovation Projects: Within, Among, Beyond

WITHIN
Self-knowledge & tools for self-development

AMONG

Faith is caught, taught, bought, sought by INDIVIDUALS…
But as a community, Faith is WROUGHT: WORKED, SHAPED, MADE TOGETHER

From “It Takes a Village”… to “It Makes a Village”

From K-12 Religious Education…
to Faith Development for all ages

From siloed and separate churches…
to integrated ministry, vision, mission

From RE teaches the kids…
to WE are growing in faith together, learning from and with each other

From TRANSACTIONAL…
to TRANSFORMATIONAL

Sharing the Wisdom: Takeaways

Innovation = Change

• Doesn’t happen in a vacuum
• Can’t be championed by just one person
• Happens in addition to daily work
• Integrative strategies can reduce burnout
• Allies are ESSENTIAL: to support change in the long term, and soothe the anxiety it provokes
• Overwhelm/overwork kill the innovative spirit
• Self-care for innovators is absolutely required - but may look different

Resources for Innovative Religious Educators

Looking for a covenant and conversation group that focus on the unique challenges and concerns of innovation?

Change Maker Mondays is a virtual “innovation circle” where religious educators meet monthly. We discuss one new idea, and learn how to do one new thing, together. Each monthly meeting includes hands-on, how-to learning and spirited discussion.
SHARE YOUR WISDOM RE: INNOVATION!

About Innovation in general:
● Faith Development that is “innovative” is...

● We know Innovation requires support! These include…
  ★ A mindset that is…
  ★ A process that is…
  ★ A strategy or plan that is…
  ★ A congregational system that is…
  ★ A work team that is…
  ★ What other kinds of support does innovative require?

About YOU:
● My capacity as a religious educator is fed or enhanced by:
● The challenges to innovation that I specifically face are:
● The tools or resources I personally need to successfully innovate include:
