

In the Darkness of the Winter

1. In the dark - ness of the win - ter, qui - et hearts be - neath the sky, we are
 2. Leg - end tells us of a ba - by born to those whose hearts were free, scared and
 3. But who is this ho - ly ba - by leg - ends say was born this night? Do we
 4. Ev - 'ry night a child is born we know the spark of ho - li - ness. Ev - 'ry wait - ing for the day - star and a hol - y new - born's cry. Friends and lone - ly trav' - ling on - ward, seek - ing shel - ter, end - less - ly. An - cient seek a new - born sav - ior? Could a child bring so much light? We who per - son has with - in them hope and love and ten - der - ness. In the fam - ily here have gath - ered, gath - ered here from near and far, shar - ing sto - ry of re - joic - ing names the ba - by born that night as a gath - er know the sec - ret of the sav - ior long fore - told: He's a dark - ness of the win - ter, qui - et hearts be - neath the sky, we are hearts and hands and laugh - ter in the soft light of the star. sav - ior for all earth - bound, bring - ing hope and joy and light.

 bles - sing deep with - in us, She's a gift with - in our soul.
 wait - ing for the day - star and a ho - ly new - born's cry.